Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: Applicant argued that Bobick is not a "development and build environment". Examiner disagrees. See Abstract. "for packaging assets for processing and distribution over a multi-tiered network. An asset may represent network and / or application components (e.g., data, objects, applications, program modules, etc.) that may be distributed. Applicant argues that Bobick does not compile. Examiner disagrees. [0048] Components 120F may include runnable (i.e., executable) and non-runnable parts. [0055] Build systems transform collections of non-runnable computer files into runnable computer modules and assembles them into components and applications. [0068], An asset may represent...application components...the package structure includes at least one representation of an asset... Applicant pointed to 32(c)"...additional dependency information documented in one or more additional modules specifications..." Applicant cited the Specification [0177- 0181] for clarification- Explicit supplemental dependencies, enabling access to protected data or to access library functions that have conflicting names are documented in the module specification, collected by the build environment and encoded into the module metadata. Applicant may amend claims .
